

Romantic Relationships

"Love comes more naturally to the human heart than its opposite."

Advocates (INFJs) look for depth and meaning in their relationships - and their romantic relationships are no different. This is a personality type known for having a vibrant, vivid

NELSON MANDELA

imagination, but few Advocates can imagine themselves settling for a match founded on anything less than true love.

It can take time for Advocates to find a compatible partner. Some people might think that Advocates are too choosy, and it's true that these personalities can be prone to unrealistic expectations. With their perfectionistic, idealistic nature, Advocates might be tempted to hold out for a "perfect"

partner or relationship that ultimately doesn't exist. The good news? Advocates' idealism - if balanced with just enough realism - can actually enhance their love life.

Is This for Real?

something that they don't believe. As a result, Advocate personalities gravitate

toward partners who appreciate them

As romantic partners, Advocates are warm, caring, honest, and insightful – and they patiently innermost needs and desires.

Once Advocates do find a suitable relationship, they rarely take it for ways to grow as individuals and partner. This can help Advocates'

The Power of Love

with all their hearts.

care about.

dream.

granted. Instead, they tend to look for strengthen their connection with their relationships reach a level of depth and sincerity of which many people can only work to uncover their loved one's change them or talk them into

as they are.

Advocates tend to be attuned to their matters to them on a soul level. This helps them look beyond surface-level attraction and understand whether core values, keenly aware of what

People with this personality type create a depth to their relationships that can hardly be described in conventional terms. Because of their sensitivity and insight, Advocates can make their partners feel heard and understood in beautiful ways. Advocates aren't afraid to express their love, and they feel it

One of the things that Advocates connections with the people they

Advocates tend to recognize that love isn't a passive emotion but rather an opportunity to grow and learn, and these personalities are not for the

they expect their partners to share this mindset. As a result, relationships with uncommitted or the shallow. Advocates are intensely passionate in ways that find most important is establishing genuine, deep

Strengths &

Weaknesses

Add Comment

and that I am just me.

Reply Like (7)

Eden

2 days ago

Johnbosco

4 days ago

have felt totally different and then this

I learnt about myself, I then realized how transcend the present moment, and what truly fulfills them is the way that a loving, meaningful relationship evolves and deepens over time. In their heart of hearts, people with the Advocate personality type crave an emotional and even spiritual connection with their partner. They cherish not just the act of being in a relationship but also what it means to become one with another person in mind, body, and soul.

SHARES

Assertive Advocate (INFJ-A)

Assertive Advocate (INFJ-A)

I have been thinking that something is wrong with me, judging by the way I feel inside me... I loneliness that seems like it is forever. But since unique I am. I really appreciate the developer of this site. I will be happy to engage with a female

Siju Kottarathil Jose

I think I should date 16personalities.com. It

5 days ago

6 days ago

often feel like the black sheep.

Assertive Advocate (INFJ-A)

seems like this site is only one who understands

Turbulent Advocate (INFJ-T)

This personality test is the most accurate I've Especially the part where I often feel out of come across. Everything I've read so far is true.

place a lot of the time, even in my own family. I

I am just glad there is nothing wrong with me

Friendships

Reply Like (29) Elizabeth

me as I am.

version of myself

Reply Like (13)

← Reply ■ Like (18) Bingsooo

1 week ago

Only liked 1 man in my 19 Year

← Reply ■ Like (8)

Years*

Assertive Advocate (INFJ-A)

Bingsooo

1 week ago

8

30

⇔ Reply ■ Like (6)

©2011-2022 NERIS Analytics Limited Contact Testimonials Terms & Conditions Privacy Policy

> Toolkits

For Teams

Teams

Resources

Profile

4

31

Assertive Advocate (INFJ-A)

5

F O Y